

14 Jan 1972

FOIAb3b

THE BIGGEST SECRET SERVICE IN THE WORLD

Starting an exclusive report on the CIA, its power

INSIDE

The Biggest Secret Service in the World.

An analysis of the work of the Central Intelligence Agency begins on page 10.

The compiler of this three-part report is E. H. Cookridge (left), who is the author of 16 books on espionage. Recruited into the British Secret Service on graduating from the University of Vienna in 1934, he has spent his time ever since in intelligence work, or writing about it. "I am in the position of the dumb blonde in Hollywood films. Once you are it you cannot stop. I am tired of writing about spies." But his network of contacts built up over the years is unique; and ensures that he will be

© The Daily Telegraph 1972. Published by The Daily Telegraph Limited, 135 Fleet Street, London, EC4P 4E Long Lane, Liverpool L9 7BG. 4p a week, if delivered. Not to be sold separately from The Daily Telegraph. The Daily Telegraph nor its agents accepts liability for loss or damage to colour transparencies or any other